DR. HEMPHILL IS GUILTY

SECOND DEGREE MANSLAUGHTER FOR THE DEATH OF MISS GLEASON.

WAS POPULAR MISSOURI TEACHER

The Rev. Clyde Gow, Charged Jointly With Physician, Suspended From Ministry—Will Also Be Tried on Criminal Charge.

Troy, Mo., July 18.—Dr. W. H. Hemphill, charged in connection with Rev. Clyde Gow with manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Elizabeth Gleason, a young school teacher, was found guilty here today and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Dr. Hemphill was charged with performing an operation at the solicitation of Rev. Gow, her alleged seducer, which resulted in the young woman's death.

The case was given to the jury at 2:15 o'clock Friday afternoon. The jury reported at 6 o'clock that they were unable to agree and asked to be discharged. Judge Barnett talked to them a while and sent them back to their room, where they remained until this forenoon.

When court convened at 8:30 Friday morning, Judge Barnett gave instructions to the jury. The instructions were to the effect that the jury must either find the defendant guilty of manslaughter in the first degree, with a minimum punishment of five years in the penitentiary, or manslaughter in the second degree, with not less than three years in the penitentiary, on conviction, or they must acquit if not found guilty on either count.

The forenoon Friday was taken up by the arguments of the attorneys, which was limited to two hours on each side. B. E. Vator, J. Creech, prosecuting attorney, and S. L. Penn, assistant prosecuting attorney, spoke for the state; E. B. Woolfolk and W. A. Dudley for the defense.

Rev. Clyde Gow, accused jointly with Dr. W. A. Hemphill, has been suspended from the ministry and as a member of the conference of the Missouri Methodist Episcopal church, South, pending a hearing of the charges against him.

Attorneys for the Rev. Mr. Gow, whose case has been set for trial next Monday, probably will ask for a change of venue on the grounds that the feeling here is of such a character that a fair trial is impossible. It is believed that such an application will be granted if made. Gow is charged with having been an accessory before the fact to the operation which is said to have caused the young woman's death.

DEATH OF MRS. E. B. BARNES

For Many Years She Was a Resident of Sedalia.

Word was received yesterday by relatives of the death of Mrs. Eunice B. Barnes, widow of Ira E. Barnes, a former well known Sedalian, at her home in Owensboro, Ky., of general debility, aged about 90 years.

Mrs. Barnes was for many years a resident of Sedalia, and will be remembered by the older citizens.

Some years ago she returned to the home of her childhood, and remained until death claimed her.

She was a devoted member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, and was a true Christian woman.

BREAK BALLOON RECORD

Five Aeronauts Sailed From Lexington Park in St. Paul.

St. Paul, July 18.—Five balloons sailed from Lexington park this afternoon in an effort to break the world's long distance record. The first balloon was released at 4 o'clock. The others were released at twenty-minute intervals.

HAD A BIG DRUNK

Young Man Arrested for Stealing Ring Was Badly Intoxicated.

Edward Akins, a young white man, under the influence of liquor, was arrested by Officer Thompson last night, charged with stealing a plain gold ring from Mrs. Anna Jones, of North Sedalia. He pawned the ring and was lodged in jail, pending trial.

Akins was beastly intoxicated and while incarcerated in a cell began preparations for filing a $25,000 damage suit against the city. Further, he said the police department would be compelled to defray his expenses while he was lodged in jail and that he had no desire to tangle up with the police.

THEY HAVE A LITTLE DAUGHTER.

Mr. P. E. Hurley, a machinist at the Missouri Pacific shops, and wife, are rejoicing over the arrival of a bouncing baby girl, which arrived at their home at 3 o'clock Saturday morning. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

HE TOOK ROUGH ON RATS

MISSOURI PACIFIC "NEWS BUTCHER" TRIED TO SHUFFLE OFF SATURDAY.

PROMPT RELIEF SAVED HIS LIFE

Physician's Early Arrival and Energetic Action Snatched the Reckless Man Back From the Oblivion He Sought.

Robert Walker, a Van Noy news butcher, running on the Lexington branch railway between Sedalia and Kansas City, attempted to commit suicide in a novel manner at his home, 119 East Jefferson street, at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

While under the influence of liquor he purchased a box of rough on rats poison and immediately proceeded to his home, which was vacant at the time, his wife having gone to Kansas City the previous day to visit.

Systematically he arranged to end his mortal career. Filling a glass with water, Walker prepared to die. He opened the top lid of the box and holding it in one hand, he held a glass of water in the opposite hand.

Four consecutive times he thrust his tongue into the box and each time he swallowed the poison with a mouthful of water, which he drank from the glass.

The fourth time Walker was overcome and his groans attracted the attention of neighbors, who ran into the home. Dr. H. L. Barnum hurried to the man's assistance and applied the stomach pump, removing all of the poison before the effects had begun to manifest themselves.

Although Walker swallowed enough of the poison to kill a dozen men, prompt action before the poison could take effect saved his life.

Domestic troubles are assigned as the cause for the act. Mrs. Walker and her husband, so it is said, had been quarreling prior to her departure for Kansas City, and worry over the thought that she would not return prompted him to commit the deed.

A FREE TRIP TO EUROPE

Miss Frances Collins Chosen as Most Popular Teacher.

Miss Frances Collins, sister of W. A. Collins, the lawyer, left Saturday afternoon for a brief visit at Washington, D. C., and Philadelphia, Pa., from which city she will sail on July 25 for a six weeks' tour of England and France.

She will be joined in Philadelphia by Miss Stella Clingan, of Belt, Mont., and together the two will make the trip at the expense of the Great Falls Leader, they having been selected in a voting contest for the most popular teacher and the most popular society lady of Great Falls.

OFFICER CARD'S BIRTHDAY

Assistant Chief of Sedalia Department Is Now 38 Years Old.

Assistant Chief of Police James Card, second oldest police officer in point of service in the employ of the city, reached the thirty-eighth milestone in his life's journey Saturday and celebrated the event without any pomp or ostentation whatever.

"Jim" is one of the best plain clothes men in the middle west, as is attested by his record of arrests and information leading to other arrests since he began his career with the police department.

IT CAME AS A SURPRISE

KNOWLEDGE OF THE MARRIAGE OF WALTER D. MOORE, POPULAR RAILROAD MAN.

IT OCCURED THREE MONTHS AGO

The First That Sedalia Friends Knew of the Happy Event Was When the Bride and Groom Arrived Here to Make Home.

News of a secret marriage that will cause great surprise among the many acquaintances of the groom was revealed last night, when it was learned that Walter D. Moore, general chairman of the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen on the M., K. & T. railway system, was secretly married to Miss Corinne Dallas, of Chicago, on April 20, last.

The ceremony was performed, unknown to any outsider, by Rev. Johnstone Meyers, pastor of Emanuel Baptist church, of Chicago, at the bride's home, but the couple, bent on keeping the news a secret, said nothing, and the first intimation given of the wedding was received last night when Mr. Moore, accompanied by his bride, arrived in Sedalia to make their home.

Although the ceremony was solemnized almost three months ago not a single intimation had been given of the step taken, and many congratulations were extended to the bride and groom on their arrival here last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore will go to housekeeping at 405 East Fifth street.

Mr. Moore is known by almost every railroad man on the entire Katy system, and their best wishes will be extended to the happy couple that they may enjoy a long life of wedded bliss.

FOUND OIL ON HIS FARM

Rev. S. S. Martin Learns of Great Good Fortune.

The Rev. S. S. Martin, the popular pastor of the First M. E. church, received notice Saturday that a promising gas well, with a capacity of 12,000,000 cubic feet, had been discovered on his 266-acre farm, situated seven miles from Humboldt, in Allan county, Kansas.

The farm owned by the Rev. Martin is located in one of the richest oil fields in the country and the well discovered on his land is the most powerful yet found in that territory.

The following item, referring to the well, was taken from the Humboldt, Kas., Union:
The Humboldt Gas company

brought in a big gasser this week, on the Martin farm seven miles southeast of Humboldt. It is said to be one of the strongest wells in the county, and is estimated at 12,000,000 cubic feet. J. M. Farnsworth did the drilling. The southeast field is getting to be a bumper and Humboldt factory interests are largely represented in holdings in that field.

LOCKED UP FOR DRUNKENNESS.

Charles W. Barker, of Jamestown, was arrested by Officer Jackson last evening, slated for drunkenness. He was lodged in cell No. 2, pending trial. Barker was neatly dressed, and said he lived in Sedalia. When asked what town this is, he replied, "Jamestown." Papers in his pockets identified him and his address.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

The Dwelling of W. B. Smith and Barn of M. E. Goist.

W. B. Smith's residence, Boonville and Brown streets, was struck by lightning during the electrical storm Friday night and slight damage was done to the place.

Mr. Smith's daughter, Mrs. Letha Reynolds, who occupied a chair ten feet from the telephone, was rendered unconscious for an hour by the bolt.

A large barn owned by M. E. Goist, a farmer located ten miles west of Sedalia, was also struck by lightning during the same night, and was almost totally destroyed by the fire which followed.

Two horses, a buggy, harness, corn, hay and other contents of the barn were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $1,000, with $100 insurance in the Pettis County Mutual.

A FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Liquor Dealer Was Killed and His Wife Seriously Injured.

Baker City, Ore., July 18.—J. Muller, a wholesale liquor dealer here, was killed and his wife seriously injured yesterday by the overturning of their automobile.

The car was allowed to coast down hill at a rapid rate, when it struck a washed out culvert and overturned.

THE TOWN WAS PILLAGED

Revolution in Persia Overthrown by Troops.

St. Petersburg, July 18.—The revolutionists at Tabriz, Persia, have been overcome by the government troops.

The horsemen of Rachin Khan are now pillaging the town, with violence and murder.

THE CHAUTAUQUA OPENED

SATURDAY AFTERNOON SEDALIA'S SEASON OF RARE TREATS BEGAN.

"THE MAN IN THE OVERALLS"

First Attraction Was Presented to a Large Audience by Rev. A. A. Tanner—All Present Were More Than Pleased.

The opening session of the Chautauqua Saturday afternoon was a great success.

A large crowd was present and words of praise were on every lip for the afternoon entertainment.

The Chautauqua orchestra gave a prelude concert, after which Rosani, the world famous juggler, entertained the audience for an hour. As a skilled manipulator Rosani is in a class by himself, and each old and young thoroughly enjoyed him.

Rev. A. A. Tanner spoke on the "Man in Overalls," and gave such an impressive and powerful presentation of his subject that the audience was carried away.

Mr. Tanner combines the man in overalls and the man in broadcloth and presents the great labor problem fairly and sympathetically.

If we had more men of Tanner's type presenting the two-fold aspects of the labor problem the difficult question would be near a solution.

Mr. Tanner will continue his address this afternoon at 2:30 and every laborer and friend of labor should hear him.

At 7:45 the Chautauqua orchestra gave another enjoyable concert, and at 8:30 the incomparable Battis gave sketches from Dickens as only Battis can do it. In full costumes and makeup, the leading characters of Dickens were presented in such lifelike manner that one felt that the mind and heart of the great novelist were opened before him. Battis as an impersonator of Dickens is without a peer.

Tonight at 7:30 there will be a sacred concert and vespers service, and at 8:20 Montville Flowers will present the "Christmas Carol." A rare treat is in store for the public.

THE DEATH OF F. C. BAIRD

Body Will Be Cremated at 2 O'Clock This Afternoon.

Frank P. Baird was Saturday advised by wire of the death of his brother, Fletcher C. Baird, at his home in Ferguson, St. Louis county.

A week ago this morning Mr. Baird returned from a visit to his brother, whose condition at that time was deemed critical, but it was thought possibly he might linger several weeks.

The deceased was 52 years of age and is survived by his widow. The body will be taken to St. Louis, where it will be cremated at 2 o'clock this afternoon, that being the request of Mr. Baird some time before his death.

Mr. Frank Baird left Saturday night for St. Louis to be present at the cremation.

WARRANT WAS WITHDRAWN.

The case of Hayden Williams, colored, charged with disturbing the peace of Jennie Gunn, a negro, was dismissed by Judge Rickman Saturday, owing to the prosecuting witness refusing to furnish the "dope" to warrant a conviction.

BRYAN'S FRIENDS BOB UP

ODDS INSURING AGAINST HIS VICTORY DECREASE RAPIDLY.

GAMBLERS GRAB BETS OF LLOYDS

All Classes of Men With Sporting Blood in Their Veins After Some of the Money Offered By the British.

New York, July 18.—Gamblers, race track men and others who are always eager to make a bet, yesterday swooped down upon the offices of several insurance brokers who, as representatives of the Lloyds, of London, had been writing insurance against a Bryan victory at what amounted to betting odds of 9 to 1 against the Nebraska.

As a result the odds shortened quickly to 8 to 17; then to 7 to 1, and finally 6 to 1. All the insurance the Lloyds would write at that figure was snapped up instantly and it was predicted that the next few hours will see the odds shortened to 4 to 1. Publication of the fact that the Lloyds were issuing policies against loss of business in the event of Bryan's election drew a whirlwind of offers from the west and middle west.

Before 10 o'clock in the morning a score or more of well known sporting men appeared at the offices of the biggest insurance brokerage firms and wanted to take all the insurance the firm would write at the published figures. It was this demand that sent the odds down.

First of the "bets" placed was made through the firm of Bertschmann & Malloy.

THREE ATHLETES INJURED

Americans Hampered in the Olympic Games in London

London, July 18.—America is hampered in the Olympic games today by three injuries to its representatives.

Carr, of the Xavier Athletic association, turned an ankle in yesterday's steeplechase; Elsie, of the New York Athletic club, is suffering from the loss of a toe nail, and Lightbody, of the University of Chicago, has an injured knee cap.

A varied program was offered today. In the final discus throw, Sheridan, of the Irish-American Athletic club, was first with a throw of 128 feet and 8 inches, beating the world's record for Greek style; Korr, of the Irish-American Athletic club, was second.

A WAGER OF TEN TO ONE

On the Result of the Primary Election on August 4.

Among the visitors here Thursday, when "Dave" Ball, candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Missouri, spoke at the court house, were John A. Knott, of Hannibal, and H. C. Threlkeld, of Shelby, each an aspirant for the democratic nomination for railroad and warehouse commissioner.

Among the happenings of the day was a $50 bet, at a ten to one shot, made by Threlkeld with Knott that he (Knott) will not carry his own county at the primary election.

The bet was readily accepted by Mr. Knott.

"PEEPING TOM" CAUGHT

WELL KNOWN MARRIED MAN ARRESTED UNDER SERIOUS CHARGE SATURDAY.

CONFESSED TO THE ALLEGATIONS

Attributes His Actions to Vagaries Caused by Blow on the Head Received Seven Years Ago—Believe Him Insane.

Ira Henry, a machinist, living on East Broadway, was arrested by Assistant Chief of Police Card at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and taken to police headquarters, pending filing of charges by neighbors of that locality, who allege that Henry is the famous "Peeping Tom" who has been terrorizing women in that neighborhood for several months past.

The prisoner admitted his guilt and attributed it to a blow which he sustained on his head some seven years ago. He said he had frequently made "peeping" tours in Southeast Sedalia, and showed no hesitation whatever in speaking of his actions.

Henry was released on his own recognizance to appear in police court tomorrow, when charges will be preferred against him.

Less than six months ago a "peeping Tom" made his appearance in Southeast Sedalia. Efforts to capture him proved fruitless and nothing was heard of him recently until Saturday, when several men living in the vicinity of Ninth street and Summit avenue espied the man at work with his foolish pranks.

They surrounded him and notified police headquarters, Assistant Chief Card being sent to arrest the man.

Henry's relatives are some of Sedalia's best and most respectable citizens, and on that account the affair is a lamentable one.

He is a married man and his wife, who has been totally ignorant of her husband's foolish acts, has the sincere sympathy of all who know her.

Friends of the man believe that he suffers at times from insanity as the result of the blow received on the head, as claimed by him, and that during those times he is not responsible for his acts.

WILL BRING BODY HERE

Seven-Months-Old Son of John Morgan Dies in Pueblo.

Marion, the 7-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan, former Sedalians, now living at Pueblo, Colo., died there Saturday morning. The body will arrive here on Missouri Pacific train No. 2 at noon today and burial will be made in this city.

Mr. Morgan formerly conducted the "street car" lunch stand on East Second street, and left Sedalia several months ago for Pueblo, where he is at present engaged in the same business.

FIRST TRIP IN 38 YEARS

Steamboat Arrived at Muskogee, Ok., Saturday.

Muskogee, Ok., July 18.—That the Arkansas river is navigable to this point was proven today when the steamboat City of Muskogee reached here with a cargo.

This is the first steamboat that has plied the river in thirty-eight years. The boat left Cincinnati July 4. It will start to St. Paul and New Orleans August 1.

THE SUNDAY LABOR LAW

Is Alleged to Have Been Violated by Topeka Business Men.

Topeka, Kas., July 18.—Twenty-one of Topeka's business men, including the proprietors of cigar stores, confectionary dealers and Sunday newspaper men, are to be arrested today, charged with violating the Sunday labor law.

Theatrical managers whose houses have been closed swore to the complaint.

Takes Month's Vacation.

There will be no issue of Rosa Pearl's Paper for one month, due to the editress taking her annual vacation.

THREE TIMES IN PRISON

IRA N. TERRILL, OF OKLAHOMA, WHO LECTURED IN SEDALIA LAST NIGHT.

SPENT TEN YEARS AT LANSING, KAS

Thrice He Was Sent to Penitentiary for Murder, but Two Years Ago Was Released by Federal Judge Sanborn.

Ira N. Terrill, a former printer and newspaper man of Oklahoma, who was three times sent from Oklahoma into the Kansas state prison for alleged murder, and whose fight for liberty attracted the attention of all readers, spoke upon the market square in Sedalia last night.

His subject, "The Kansas Slave Pen," was handled without gloves, and he exhibited what he called evidence to prove that Kansas is holding the Oklahomans in slavery and that the governors of Kansas and Oklahoma are signers of a written constitution and laws which prohibit slavery.

Terrill charged that there is an $80,000 per year graft in this Kansas-Oklahoma slave trade. Terrill said that after fighting his way through the courts to liberty three times he was finally released, two years ago, by Federal Judge Sanborn, and he has been and is still lecturing in the interest of prisoners and justice.

He first appealed, he said, to the governors of Oklahoma and Kansas to have them stop the unlawful slave trade; then to the Kansas legislature, and getting no action, he tried to have the alleged conspiring governors prosecuted under federal law. He claimed to have proof that he was denied the right to swear out complaints before United States Commissioner Bond of Leavenworth, and denied the right to go before the federal grand jury by United States Attorney H. J. Bone, of Topeka, Kas.

Terrill stated that he then put the matter consecutively before the department of justice at Washington, D. C., President Roosevelt and congress. Terrill further asserted, and said he could prove it, that the so-called "square deal" administration of President Roosevelt denies the use of the courts to so protect criminals from prosecution. After Terrill showed up the alleged terrible persecution put upon himself by the "square deal" outfit, he cited the cases of M. H. McClaskey (34 Pac. p. 457) and the Asa Sharp case decided by Judge Phillips, which two cases prove, he asserted, that hundreds of Oklahomans are being held in slavery in Kansas while being held as prisoners, but without any lawful process whatever.

Terrill called attention to the Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone cases; the driving of the Cripple Creek miners out of Colorado by the militia, and compared the case from a legal standpoint with the Texas steer case; then he cried out with emphasis, "I tell you there is no square deal when a Texas steer is given more protection of the law than is given to an American miner; there is no square deal when a white man is denied the equal protection of the law which is given to the colored man."

Terrill publicly branded the so-called "square dealers" as official anarchists who put their will above the law and trample all law and every right of an American citizen under foot.

Terrill stated that he is not in the Uses of a London Church.

The church of All Hallows, London, England, presents a strange appearance every morning. The building is opened early for the accommodation of girls and women who arrive in the city by the "workmen's" trains, which frequently are run at such an hour as to compel the passengers to make a long wait after arriving in the city for their places of business to open. A short service is conducted and then the congregation is permitted and even encouraged to employ themselves with needlework or with reading. The women and girls are provided with reading matter, though care is taken that it shall not be too narrow in its range.

Mrs. J. H. Reeves, formerly of Sedalia, now living at Kingsville, arrived last night to visit her son, Don Reeves, and family. She was accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Margaret Reeves, who has been visiting there.

Mrs. A. G. Boots and Miss Ida Kenyon, who have been visiting their brother, S. B. Kenyon, and family, of 706 East Broadway, for the past two weeks, left this morning on M. K. & T. flyer No. 5 for their home at Gainesville, Texas.

Miss Sears, accompanied by Misses Sue Hayner, Amy and Lucy Simmons and Nannie Moore, all of Macou City, Mo., were in the city between trains Saturday as guests of H. B. Shain and family, and went to Warrensburg during the afternoon for a visit.

Miss Opan Hogan, of Sedalia, is the guest of her cousins, Misses Ruth and Zola Hogan, out in Morgan County. C. D. Brown and family, of Sedalia, and Albert Brown, of Kansas, were guests of W. W. Biddle and family Saturday and Sunday—Otterville Mail.

Lew Neely, wife and son, Lew, junior, arrived last night from Groveton, Texas, and will spend a month with the family of his mother, Mrs. Mary Neely, of 406 East Seventh street. Lew is general salesman for the Trinity County Lumber Co. at Groveton, and commands a fine salary.

Misses Anna and Florence Moore, of Sedalia, visited the past week with Miss Maud Hirsch. The Misses Martin, of Sedalia, were the guests over Sunday of Mrs. Sadie Daniel and family. Gus Myer, secretary and treasurer of the creamery at Sedalia, was in Warsaw last Thursday and Friday, and with Messrs. Sam Davis, Calbert and Nichols, of the Commercial club, took a drive among the farmers and reported favorably on good interest among cow owners.—Warsaw Enterprise.

CHAUFFEUR YOU READ ABOUT.

But His Like You Will Seldom See in Real Life.

Mr. Blank had advertised for a chauffeur, and he passed over a dozen applicants until he came to one whose general appearance seemed to fill the bill, and then said to him:

"Sir, I want a man different from the ordinary chauffeur."

"Yes, sir. I thought from the reading of your advertisement that you did. I am different."

"In what respects?"

"If you have a wife, I shall not flirt with her."

"If you have a daughter, I shall not cajole her into eloping with me."

"If your wife tries to find out through me where you go certain nights I shall be mum."

"If any dudes ask me how much money you are going to give your daughter when she marries I shall tell him to go to."

"I shall not come to your house to court the parlor maid."

"Should I be out in the auto alone, and a son of a gun should want to race me, I shall decline."

"I am a first-class liar regarding speed when arrested by the police."

"I never give things away to the newspapers."

"If divorce proceedings are instituted I go on the stand for you."

He was told to remove his coat and vest and undergo inspection, and when it was found that his angel wings were fully developed he was hired on the spot for $100 per month.—Rehoboth Democrat and Chronicle

"I was in an uptown tearoom where the scenery is all out of proportion to the amount served you," said a New York clubman. "I was dallying with some ice cream when my spoon struck a common, everyday pin in the bottom of the frozen stuff. I gave a little wave and a waiter slipped to my side. 'See, a pin in this ice cream,' I said. 'Why, I might have swallowed that.' He took the glass and disappeared. When he returned he reminded me of an undertaker, he was that solemn. 'That pin has lost a man his job, sir,' he said. 'Well,' I replied, 'I am sorry for that, but it might have cost me my life, when you come to think of it.' 'Yes, sir,' said the waiter, meekly. Then, 'You see, sir, most of the folks that eats here just sips their ice cream and don't chew it.'"

The Sedalia Chautauqua

NEWS FROM THE SPRINGFIELD CHAUTAUQUA TELLS OF SPEAKERS WHO WILL BE IN SEDALIA.

(SPRINGFIELD CHAUTAUQUA.)

Springfield, Mo., July 14.—The second week of the Springfield Chautauqua opened under the most auspicious circumstances, as every attraction on the program so far has given the utmost satisfaction. Thus the second week opened with larger audiences, greater interest, with universal satisfaction and with the unqualified approval of all attractions. Mrs. Maybrick, who appeared at the afternoon session, not only met but exceeded the high expectations of the immense audience which greeted her. Her story should be heard by every American citizen.

Col. Geo. W. Bain, the silver-tongued Kentuckian, was the attraction at the evening session and was given a most royal welcome by all of the ardent admirers who heard him at our Assembly two years ago. Col. Bain gripped the attention of his hearers from the very first word and he received the most enthusiastic applause. For keenness of point, richness of expression, and for abiding good, his lecture, "The Searchlight of the Twentieth Century," is unsurpassed.—Rev. J. T. Bacon.

By consulting the Chautauqua Herald we learn that Col. George W. Bain will be at our Assembly on Tuesday, July 21; while Mrs. Maybrick, of English prison fame, will be one of the big attractions on Wednesday, July 20.

AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

NEXT STORY HOUR WILL BE GIVEN BY MR. JOHN MONT-GOMERY FRIDAY.

THE EARLY DAYS IN MISSOURI

List of the Best One Hundred Novels
Is Posted on the Bulletin Board —Something About the Dumas Stories.

Mr. John Montgomery will have charge of the story hour on Friday, July 24th. He will tell true stories of the early days in Missouri.

Many patrons are in doubt about what to read in the hot summer weather. The Newark public library, a large public library in Newark, N.
J., has had a list published of one hundred best novels. Living writers are well represented. The Newark library buys more copies of these novels than of any others, places them in special book cases and freely distributes lists of them. The Sedalia public library has a copy and sometimes more than one of every novel in the list. The list is posted on the bulletin board at the right of the loan desk. There are a few lists for distribution.

Anyone who has never read the
"Three Musketeers" or the "Count of Monte Cristo" should come down and get one of these new copies in the Little, Brown & Co. edition which means that the books are clearly printed and light to handle. Those who have read either of the above books will be anxious to get one of Dumas' other novels.

"The Count of Monte Cristo" is a wonderful melodrama and the most famous of the author's romances.
The following are the volumes just received at the library arranged according to the period of French history in which the plot is laid:

Alexander Dumas' novels arranged chronologically according to the period of French history in which the plot is laid:

WED AT SWEET SPRINGS

S. P. Kerr, of Sapulpa, Takes Miss Fannie Mae Bellamy for Bride.

Samuel P. Kerr, a young man engaged in the clothing business at Sapulpa, Ok., and Miss Fannie Mae Bellamy, a popular and pretty young lady of Sweet Springs, Mo., were married by the Rev. J. C. Shackle-ford at Sweet Springs at 7:30 o'clock last evening.

The bridal couple arrived here on the Lexington branch train last night and registered at the Antlers hotel, and today they will leave for Sapul-pa to make their home.

The news of the wedding was a surprise to the friends of the young couple, both of whom are widely known in this section of the state.
Mr. Kerr is a son of Mr. and Mrs.
J. T. Kerr, of El Dorado Springs.

ASKED TO WATCH FOR HUBBY.

Cleveland Woman Thinks That Request Was the Limit.

"I don't care what anybody asks me now," remarked the woman with the heavily upholstered velvet jacket.
"I'll be prepared now for anything.
Nothing would surprise me. Not after what the woman across the hall asked me yesterday.
"It was after five o'clock, and I was busy getting dinner, for my husband is usually home by six. I guess the woman across the hall must have been figuring on having her dinner ready just on time, too. She knocked at the door, and when I asked her to come out to the kitchen she says: 'O, no, I haven't time to stop only a moment. I just wanted to ask you if you would look out of your window and let me know when my husband gets off the car and then tell me so I can hurry my supper on the table. He's always in such a hurry when he gets home.
You'll watch out for him, won't you,
dear? You know I can't see the car from our flat.'
"And she was gone before I had time to catch my breath. I can see myself sitting at the window and watching for her husband. The idea!"

NO PLACE FOR A STRAW HAT.

Beginner at Golf Quickly Convinced of the Fact.

There was a good deal of the characteristic traits of the Scotsman in old Tom Morris, the famous golfer, who has just died. He was pawk, canny and of a religious bent. Of him many stories are told. When asked for his opinion regarding the playing of golf on Sunday, Tom wisely remarked that if the player "did n' need a rest, the links did."

Beginners had always a large share of Tom's sympathy, and he was ever ready to give them sound advice. Tom was astonished one day to find a car callant who had armed himself with a club and ball out to find a link with a straw hat. "You'll never get the right swing w' a thing like that on yer head," said Tom, and taking a club he showed the young man the proper swing. On trying it the neophyte just struck the back of his hat and knocked it off. A cap was afterward found more suitable.

Giving Him a Hint.

They were walking under a very little umbrella, and she liked it well enough not to want a large spread of alpaca. He was modest and seemed to be nervous, and she finally remarked, very softly, and with a note of interrogation: "Charlie, I'll carry the umbrella, if you will let me?"
"Oh, no! I can carry it." "Yes, Charlie, but, you see, your arm takes up so much room that one side of me is out in the wet." "I know, Fanny;

LAND SECURED BY FRAUD

State of Kansas Expects to Regain Thousands of Acres.

Topeka, Kas., July 18.—An effort to regain possession of thousands of acres of public school lands which have been sold in recent years is to be made by the state of Kansas.

Evidence has been secured of fraud, collusion and swindling on the part of land speculators getting possession of valuable school lands.

State Accountant J. C. Gafford has unearthed sufficient evidence of this crooked work to cause many holding such land titles to disgorge.

In Seed Growing District.

A letter from Mr. L. H. Archias to Mr. Leo Kipping tells of Mr. Archias' visit to Eufert, Germany. Mr. Archias describes the place as a great seed growing district and says that flower seeds of all kinds are grown there on twenty and fifty acre farms the same as corn is grown here.

The One Place.

"In this age of graft and muck-rakers," remarked the cheerful idiot,
"there is at least one place where honesty and truth may always be found."

"For goodness' sake, where?" queried the doubting Thomas.

"In the dictionary," answered the c.
as he hurriedly left the dining room.

Mental Struggle.

"A great struggle takes place in a woman's mind when another woman asks what her new gown cost," remarked the thoughtful thinker.

"What's the answer," queried the unsophisticated youth.

"She's in doubt whether to cut the price in half and make the other woman envy her bargain, or double it and make her envy her affluence," replied the t. t.

"What are you paying for poetry to-day?" the long-haired man inquired.

The editor glanced at the closely rolled manuscript in the visitor's hands.

"I'll have to consult the janitor," he said. "We are not buying heavily at present. Just a little now and then to accommodate our friends. But we never buy it in less than ten-pound

Whereupon he went back to his desk and the caller faded away.—

To Maintain Health.

There is an erroneous idea in the minds of many as to what constitutes a strong physique. A man can be strong physically without great stature and huge muscles. If he has a wiry frame, a body that resists disease, he can indulge in many hours of severe brain work. He will make it a rule, however, to take sufficient physical exercise to keep his system in good working order.

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

HAS GEORGE GOULD LOST CONTROL OF THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILWAY.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

A New York dispatch of the 17th says: Gould issues were the stock market feature today. Missouri Pacific, exhibiting continued strength, reflected current report that Harriman and Wm. Rockefeller are virtually in control. It is pointed out by those who keep in touch with events and draw conclusions, that color is lent this belief, as to the passing of Missouri Pacific management, by the fact that Fish's retirement, some time ago, from the chairmanship of the executive committee might have been owing to his foreseeing the trend of affairs and their ultimate inevitable outcome.

Besides this, attention is called to the very satisfied condition of mind that possessed Mr. Gould when he sailed for Europe a few weeks ago, saying as he went that satisfactory financial arrangements had been made that would keep Missouri Pacific out of the hands of a receiver. Whoever may be accumulating this stock there is certainly a very small quantity of it to be had in the street. The advance in Wabash preferred was on buying not dissimilar to that in Missouri Pacific. It naturally strengthens the rumors current of a change of control in the Gould system, although this would be the idea to stimulate in any case, even if the buying were purely manipulative. International houses did considerable trading today, more than half of which was buying for foreign account. The movement in M. K. & T. common and preferred attracted some attention on the other side, and London was a buyer of Harriman stocks and Steel.

Automatic Train Signal.

A railroad train on the main line of the Burlington road today, going at a speed of fifty miles an hour, ran past a block signal, which stood at "danger," and was automatically brought to a full stop 1100 feet beyond, says a Chicago dispatch of the 17th.

While the test was being made a score of the foremost operating men of the United States, representing railroads from coast to coast, either rode on the train or watched from the side of the track the operation of the new automatic device for the stoppage of trains when the engine crews have disregarded the warning signal.

The experiment was conducted for the benefit of the joint committee of the American Railway association, of which F. C. Rice of the Burlington road is chairman. The joint committee is made up of members of the train rules and the safety devices committees of the association.

Shortly before the experiment was tried, the operating men sat in a room in the Burlington company's Aurora quarters and listened attentively, while the most complex train orders known were transmitted a distance of 118 miles, received, repeated and O. K'd. by telephone instead of telegraph.

Harahan Back From Europe.

James T. Harahan, president of the Illinois Central, arrived in New York Friday on board the steamship Mauretania, after a two months' tour of Europe. His first words were in regard to the railroad situation in the United States.

"One of three things must occur," said Mr. Harahan. "Freight rates must go up, wages must be reduced, or the business of the railroads must increase materially."

"I know it may not be politics to talk this way at this time, but I am not a politician. I am a railroad man and the railroad business is what interests me."

"The crops in the west are large, but I do not think they are large enough to have a noticeable effect on the prosperity of the railroads. There must be something more than that. It is a plain business proposition. The roads must make more money."

Not to Play Favorites.

No partiality shall be shown hotel keepers or hotel runners by conductors or porters on the M. K. & T. An official bulletin cautioning the above mentioned employees was issued by the Katy Saturday.

According to complaint made to the company, porters have been in the habit of assisting passengers from trains and handing the baggage to favorite hotel runners, instead of per-

Friday night, his case being diagnosed as mumps.

George Brittendall, division line-man for the Missouri Pacific, went to Independence Saturday morning, and C. D. Jeffers, claim agent, was a visitor at Warrensburg.

H. L. Barker, Missouri Pacific trainmaster at Jefferson City, with the river route as his territory, came up on No. 7 Saturday morning and returned on No. 22.

B. W. McKeown, a Pacific Express company messenger, will go to Jefferson City today, to return home tonight in company with his wife, who has been visiting there.

Charles Johns, a Missouri Pacific conductor out of Jefferson City, accompanied by Miss Vera Mae Campbell, returned home last afternoon, after a short visit in this city.

T. L. Harkness, paymaster for the Missouri Pacific, will be in Sedalia on Thursday, July 23. An official bulletin announcing the fact was issued at the local offices last night.

W. G. Martin, a Missouri Pacific fireman; C. W. Tuck, another fireman, and J. W. Ward, a machinist's helper, are on the sick list, each being ill with an attack of indigestion.

Hereafter all engineers on the Missouri Pacific will register in the sixteen-hour law book in the general yardmaster's office at Jefferson City, instead of at the roundhouse as heretofore.

J. A. Davis, a former superintendent of this division of the Katy, now a superintendent for the Pullman Palace Car Co., at Chicago, passed through Sedalia Friday afternoon on the Elt's special.

Supt. A. J. Alexander, of the Missouri Pacific; trainmaster E. M. Dennis and clerk, James J. Neely, returned home Friday night from Warrensburg, where they attended the preliminary hearing of Charles Taylor.

Clyde Barker, an M. K. & T. brakeman, made a trip on the south end Saturday in place of C. A. Creagan, while Harry Smith, running mate to Brakeman Ross Kinsey, went out on the high line for Conductor Newcomb.

Special "all day" sales this week at The Globe's Money-Raising Sale.

Will Go On Fishing Trip.

Forest Speediff, an M. K. & T. fireman, and wife, accompanied by Miss Elsie Brown, of East Tenth street, and James Potts, will leave tomorrow for a few days' fishing visit at a point south of Smithton. They will make the trip in E. N. Harrison's new wagon.

The Word Post.

Many persons wonder how we got the word "post" as applied to the mails. It comes from the Latin positus, which means placed; therefore it is a fixed station. From this it came to mean an established conveyance of letters from one station to another, and the place from which the letters were sent out came to be called the postoffice. "Post-haste," a word used by Shakespeare, means speed in traveling, like that of post or a courier.

Eighty-Six Dogs Killed.

Up to date eighty-six canines, without any muzzles, have been slaughtered by the police department, since Mayor Babcock's order to kill all unmuzzled dogs. Fifteen dogs killed Saturday made the list reach the foregoing mentioned number. The crusade will be continued until all dogs without muzzles have been killed.

Men's HANAN Oxfords reduced from $6.00 to $4.85 during sale at Quinn Bros.

CARTER HELD FOR TRIAL

COMMITTED TO HUNTSVILLE
JAIL ON CHARGE OF SLAY-ING THOMAS BAGBY.

SELF-DEFENSE WILL BE HIS PLEA

Sister Swears Admirer Threatened
Her Life and Family's—Victim's
Father Tells of Deceit Letter
That Was Written.

Huntsville, Mo., July 18.—At the conclusion of the preliminary hearing on the killing of Thomas Bagby, Irvin Carter was held for trial and committed to jail last night.

The examination of witnesses concluded last evening with the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bagby, sr., parents of the victim. The father recited the contents of a letter received by his son from Beulah Carter the day preceding the shooting. The missive pleaded for a meeting, he said, and told of her illness. Accompanying it was a note bearing the father's signature and assuring young Bagby of his friendly feeling despite past trouble.

That Carter will offer a plea of self-defense in conjunction with that of "unwritten law," developed during the examination. Beulah Carter, sister of the defendant, recited the contents of a letter written her by Bagby, asserting that interference on the part of her relatives to sever their relation would be punished by death—not only for her immediate family, but for herself.

It became evident Friday that the defense will take the position that, in view of the repeated threats, every member of the Carter family was justified in maintaining an armed vigil within their home and taking Bagby's life in the event he appeared on the premises uninvited.

Interest Friday centered principally in the testimony of Miss Carter, who corroborated the statements of her mother and father concerning the confession which resulted in Bagby's death. She testified that she began keeping company with Thomas Bagby last October. Two or three months afterward their relations became intimate, she declared. Bagby's unceasing persuasion led to clandestine meetings before and after parental objection arose, she asserted.

The midnight trysts at the Carter home were detailed. She described how, on three occasions, her admirer came to her home at 9:30 p. m., and, assisting her through the window of her room, accompanied her to the barn, where they remained until 4 o'clock in the morning. On three other occasions, she declared, Bagby had visited her after she had made appointments with him.

She told of trouble that arose between herself and Bagby and of his threat to defame her character should she persist in her avowed determination to sever their relations. His threats to kill herself and members of her family were made following the trouble between her brother, Irvin, and Bagby, at Hager chapel.

The following letter, written by Miss Carter, June 23, was introduced as evidence:

Thomas Bagby—Will you please send me my ring and letters just as soon as you possibly can? You are not the boy I thought you were, so, Tom, we are strangers now and will be forever. So, once more, I bid you a last goodbye. Yours respectfully—Beulah Carter.

P. S.—I will never have anything more to do with you. If there is not principle enough in you to send me my ring and letters, keep them, confound you.

The girl admitted that she wrote to Bagby on the day preceding the killing, but swears she told him their relations were at an end and that he must cease his visits at her home. This letter cannot be found.

Many of Miss Carter's letters were exhibited. While to her family she expressed contempt for Bagby, her missives teemed with endearing terms.

She withstood the ordeal of a public recital of her wrong without flinching, and answered the questions of the prosecutor without hesitation.

Prosecuting Attorney Wright informed the court of the character of the evidence to be submitted before he called Miss Carter. Addressing the spectators, he expressed a desire that women leave the room. None of the many present heeded his request, although several sought less con-

NEGRO BLOOD IN VEINS

FRIENDS THOUGHT SHE WAS A WHITE WOMAN UNTIL SHE HAD PASSED AWAY.

SUICIDE FOLLOWED SWEETHEART'S

Just Before Her Death She Expressed the Hope That She Would Return to Earth in Due Course of Time.

Chicago, July 18.—Miss Lillian Beatrix Watkins, who ended her life here in a boarding house with a pistol bullet, is believed to have killed herself because she was a negress who had denied her race and had "gone over to the whites" as the negroes say. Not one of her scores of associates here knew that the beautiful young woman had negro blood in her veins.

At D. C. Philney's boarding house, 376 Dearborn avenue, where she had lived for many months, and where she was extremely popular, she posed as a native of India, and as further proof of her claim to eastern birth she manifested a deep interest in theosophy and the occult. Numerous theosophical books were in a book case in the room where she ended her life. Other papers showed that she was a member of a theosophical society having headquarters at Adyar, Madras, India.

Miss Watkins' suicide followed that of a former sweetheart, who had jilted her for another woman, and had then ended his own life within two weeks. He was Thomas Kennedy, and his body was found in June in Jackson Park with a bullet in the brain.

During the evening that preceded her death, Miss Watkins discussed theosophy, spiritualism and kindred topics with other occupants of the Dearborn avenue boarding house. She expressed a belief in reincarnation and expressed the hope that she would return to earth in some other form after her death.

There was apparently nothing morbid in the conversation, and during the talk the young woman gave no indication that she even contemplated suicide. Miss Watkins was an interesting talker, and she expounded the principles of theosophy with earnestness and vigor.

Miss Watkins came to Chicago several years ago from Hamilton, O. For a time she worked for the S. S. White Dental Co. and while there she met Thomas Kennedy. He was also interested in theosophy and this subject led to an acquaintance that developed into a firm friendship.

Miss Watkins afterwards became a stenographer in the bond department of the First Trust and Savings Bank. She carried an account there that showed deposits of $3,000, but at the time of her death the balance was 1 cent.

Within two weeks Kennedy shot himself. He seems to have been unable to decide which woman he loved best, for he left a will in which he directed that his personal effects, all the property he had, be divided between his wife and Miss Watkins. The certificate of his marriage to Miss Reeves and newspaper clippings referring to his suicide were found in Miss Watkins' room.

Miss Watkins also left a note addressed to Mrs. Laura Nixon, 629 South Water street, Hamilton, O. It was through this note that her identity and the fact that she was a negress were learned.

CHAPTER III. The Garden Fete.

THE gardens of Mme. Sonia Sadova's villa, just outside Paris, were gayly decorated for a lawn fete. The grounds were dotted with laughing groups of brightly dressed men and women, for Sonia had particularly requested that all her Marsovian guests wear their picturesque native costume, and the result was a veritable kaleidoscopic carnival of color, a perfect riot of gorgeous hues and striking figures.

Ambassador Popoff, his long, lean figure draped in vivid green, was pacing the alleys of the garden near the entrance gate, pausing nervously now and again to scan late arrivals in search of some one. At length he deserted the man he sought. Nish was just bustling into the grounds, and the ambassador at once beckoned to him.

"Now, then, Mr. Nish," cried Popoff as soon as the little clerk had shamblod within earshot, "I told you to see it. And from the way De Jolidon looks at the widow—why, man, I don't know a single thing that doesn't point toward his being in love with her. If—

"If I may say so, your excellency," put in Nish, shuffling nervously, "I think I could tell you of a 'single' thing, or, rather," he added, chuckling, "when I say 'single' I mean 'married'."

"Mr. Nish," interrupted Popoff, "if you can stop wriggling around like an inebriated centipede long enough to talk plainly, will you do me the honor to put your blitherings into plain words?"

"You fool!" whispered Danilo in Nish's ear. "Everybody but the ambassador himself knows it is Mme. Popoff whom De Jolidon loves. Be careful!"

"Well, Mr. Nish," repeated Popoff majestically as he eyed the squirming clerk with lofty majesty, "I'm waiting to hear the name of the lady that De Jolidon is in love with."

"He neglected to tell me, your excellency," sputtered Nish.

"Then," decided the ambassador, "I shall discover her by diplomatic means, and when I find who she is she shall use her influence to lure De Jolidon away from the widow. Prince, will you help me in this?"

"Leave it all to me," suggested Danilo, with startling willingness. "Don't Nish as he started faithfully off in the wake of his chief. "I'd like to think so. It—it would make it less exclusive, less of a monopoly. And to think his excellency never recognized his own wife's fan! Where ignorance is bliss why read up on divorce laws?"

Laying the fan on a nearby table, Danilo was turning away when a voice behind him called mockingly: "Still in retreat? So you are afraid of me!"

Whirling about, the prince faced Sonia. She was bewitchingly pretty in the black and gold Marsovian dress that snowed to fullest advantage every wily line of her figure.

"I'm not retreating," he contradicted, "only skirmishing in light cavalry fashion."

"And you are going away like that? Oh, you scold!"

"I can't tell what you mean," he answered, puzzled.

"And I shan't tell what I mean," she rejoined. "By the way," she added, "how do you happen to be here? You declined my invitation."

"I'm here," he replied bluntly, "because I'm making it my business to get rid of every Frenchman who shows signs of proposing to you."

"But why?" she asked in wonder.

"For my own amusement; that's all." "You—you don't happen to be in love with me yourself?" she asked, a tinge of witfulness in the light mockery of her tone.

"Certainly not!" he retorted, with suspicious promptitude.

"You're very, very rude!" she reproved. "But since you don't love me you ought to be able to give me good advice about accepting a man I really want to marry."

"Oh!" growled Danilo, chagrined. "Then there is some one you want to marry?"

She nodded.

"Whoever the man is, he's after your money," he sneered.

"No," she contradicted. "He is not—"

"Not this one."

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots and growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate women and children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz., pure triple-refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and purifier, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages, or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden cold, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

pose, I shall never see you again, for when I'm married I shall live in Paris." "I thought you were more patriotic," he sighed. "It seems hard that you should turn your back on your native land, marry a Frenchman and settle here."

"Yet it is what I have decided," she answered. "This is probably the last time I shall wear our native costume or dance our wild national dances. Today's fete is a sort of farewell to old times."

"No; our dances and costumes would not appeal to a Frenchman. Who is it you are going to marry?"

"The engagement isn't announced yet," she evaded.

"Then," he returned, with a shrug, "I suppose I shall never know, for I leave early tomorrow."

"And you won't dance at my wedding?"

"I've told you I would not."

"If you won't," she cried, a sudden inspiration flashing through her mind and lighting her pale face to dazzling beauty, "dance with me now!"

She stretched out her slender white arms with an allurements that no mortal man could resist.

RESCUE OF THE ROBINS

BATTLE HAS BEEN WON FOR THE RED BREAST IN STATE OF LOUISIANA.

NO OPEN SEASON FOR DESTRUCTION

Open Fight for All Audubon Workers Champion Crop Savers—Nation Faces Peril if Insect Eaters Die.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, July 18.—After four years of desperate fighting the first battle for robin red breast has today been won in Louisiana, the heart of the section where this favorite American song bird is butchered by the millions for the market.

That the robin has at last been removed from the list of game birds by the legislature of the Creole state was announced today at the headquarters of the National Association of Audubon Societies. As the first fruits of a persistent campaign of education in the south, the officers of the association declare, their victory will mean the saving of dollars worth of crops for each tiny carcass spared as a tid-bit for the gourmand.

By a close vote the lawmakers of Louisiana have repealed the old game bird law in which the robin was classed as game and have decreed no open season for the wholesale destruction of the slightly species, a million members of which were butchered for their mouthfuls of meat last year alone. Only Texas and Alabama of all the southern states now possess similar statutes, though it is declared that sentiment in the south is becoming generally aroused against the slaughter of these favorite birds of the country while they winter in lower latitudes.

That successful agriculture in this country would become impossible and vegetation soon be destroyed if the robin and his brother birds were exterminated has just been asserted by Prof. Henshaw, of the biological survey, and the Audubon authorities declare that his warning may come too late if this victory for the robin is not followed by a general campaign to preserve and even increase every such race of birds.

Scientific examination of hundreds of robins has shown that almost half of their diet is composed of the insects that mean destruction to the trees and crops of the land. These very insects, it has been proven, damage the country's crops to the extent of $500,000,000 annually, while their added ravages of woods and stored crops, it is calculated, rob the land of nearly a billion dollars each year. Though insect pests are known to be increasing, their natural destroyers, the birds, are being gradually exterminated at an alarming rate, it is declared.

To open the eyes of the public to this crucial situation, the National Association of Audubon Societies has been exerting its utmost resources for years in a general educational campaign. Encouraged by the results of this work for the robins in Louisiana, the officers of the association declared today that every means at their command would be used throughout the country to rouse the people to the value of the dying birds.

"This is a time of great emergency and the people must act at once by preserving their bird resources, before it is too late," said William Dutcher, president of the association, at its offices, 141 Broadway, today.

"I know that some few people realize the gravity of the situation, for I am receiving contributions with letters asserting that the work in second only in economic importance to forest preservation. We are trying to reach every man, woman and child in this broad land with the story of our common danger, and we want every bird lover, farmer, merchant and citizen of any walk of life to help us push the enormous task we have undertaken for the economic good of every American."

bring Prince Danilo here and not to leave him for an instant until—"He wouldn't let me stay," explained Nish. "He says he won't come. He's giving a party—if I may say so, a very gay."

"And for the sake of a lot of pleasure seeking idlers the prince refuses to obey my orders and come to Mme. Sonia's?"

"Yes, your excellency. He positively refuses to come. And when I say 'positively' refuses I—Here he is now!"

Danilo, resplendent in the uniform of a Marsovian captain of hussars, strolled nonchalantly forward, with a careless nod that quite ignored the ambassador's glare of reproof at his lateness. "I understand, prince," began Popoff coldly, "that you positively refused to obey my—"

"So I did, so I did," asserted Danilo cheerfully. "But at the last moment I changed my mind and my clothes, and here I am. I've postponed my party for an hour or so. You see, I remembered my promise to help you scare away from the widow any Frenchman who seemed inclined to make love to her. That's why I came."

"Good!" approved Popoff, rubbing his hands gleefully. "Very good! And where do you expect to begin?"

"With the most dangerous suitor. Who is he?"

"Well," replied Popoff confidentially, "I've had my eye on her, and it seems to me that De Jolidon—" "De Jolidon!" exclaimed Danilo. "Impossible!"

"Why impossible, pray? I think I have as good eyes as any man. I think, sir, I can detect love when I try to learn her identity yourself. Let me attend to the whole matter."

"All right," consented Popoff. "It will be a good lesson in diplomacy for you. Perhaps I can put you on the right track."

The ambassador drew an ivory fan from his pocket.

"Last night at the embassy ball," said he, "Nova Kovitch, who used to be one of my attaches, brought me this. He was crazy with jealousy. He'd just picked up the fan; said it was his wife's and that some man had written 'I love you' on one of the sticks. He was going home to beat his wife and make her confess who the villain was when I persuaded my wife to save poor Mme. Nova Kovitch by pretending the fan was her own. Ah, but my wife is a born diplomatist! Nova Kovitch was convinced, and I pocketed the fan for future reference."

Danilo took the trinket from Popoff's hands and read the penciled inscription.

"Why," he said on impulse, "this is De Jolidon's handwriting! How does it happen that he—"

"Then," squealed Popoff in triumph, "it is Mme. Nova Kovitch he loves. The whole thing is absurdly simple when a brain like mine is brought to bear on it!"

Delighted with his own astuteness, the ambassador pattered off to join the other guests, leaving Danilo, fan in hand, blankly facing the astounded little clerk.

"Nish," observed the prince, "do you suppose it's possible De Jolidon can be in love with Mme. Nova Kovitch as well as with Mme. Popoff?"

"I'd like to think so," murmured

"You said all men were alike." "This man is different. He loves me." "Then marry him! What is it to me? Marry any one you want to. I don't care. And I'll dance at your wedding. I'll dance till I wear holes through both my shoes."

"You silly boy!" she scoffed. "You're jealous!"

"Jealous?" he raged. "Jealous? I jealous? That's a good one!"

Words failed him, and he stalked away to a nearby summer house, where he paused, lost in seeming contemplation of the little building's architecture.

The neglected fan lying on the table caught Sonia's eye. She picked it up idly and opened it. The words "I love you" met her gaze. Quickly she glanced at Danilo.

"I understand," she murmured to herself. "He rowed he'd never say it to me, so he's written it."

Nothing that Danilo's back was toward her, she furtively lifted the fan to her lips and kissed the written words. Then as she restored it to the table she whispered:

"Just the same, I'll make him say it. He shall!"

She crossed to where he stood.

"Have you nothing to say to me, prince?" she asked.

"Only one thing—goodbye!" "Goodbye!" she echoed. "You're—you're not going?"

"I leave Paris tomorrow morning—by the first train—forever!"

"Then you won't be here, after all, to dance at my wedding?"

"No!"

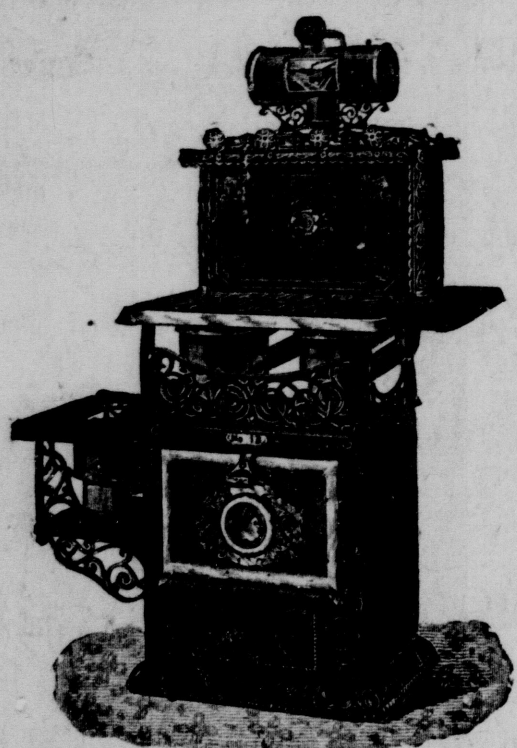

"But you promised. And now, I sup-

YORK CITY.

PALM LEAF FANS WERE IN ORDER

Mothers Fall on Knees and Pray for the Cool Zephyr That Does Not Come—Gertrude Hoffman's Dances.

BY GLENN GUERNSEY.
New York, July 18.—Yuma, Arizona, will kindly go away back and sit down. Let us hear no more of its lamented citizen who died and went elsewhere and sent back for his overcoat. The much-maligned metropolis of Southwestern Arizona is no longer entitled to the palm-leaf fan as the hottest spot this side of Tophet. The lot wave which swept over New York the first of this month, ceasing temporarily to gain fresh breath for another sirocco, entitles the American metropolis to pre-eminence as the hottest town on the map. Abas, Yuma. Records of the weather sharps may not serve to prove this contention. Heat, however, is not a thing to be registered by figures on a dial. Humidity and congestion add terrors to a New York summer that even Yuma knows not of. The narrow streets, lined with their sky-piercing buildings, become sweltering canyons through which the choking air-waves swirl sluggishly on their mission of death. Under the sun's rays the asphalt pavements come to resemble rivers of New Orleans sorghum, boiling and sizzling in a mighty vat.

Worse even than the downtown tenements filled with huddled, hopeless millions, breathing despair and death with every gasp of fetid, filthy atmosphere. Here Dante might set the scene of another inferno more terrible far than any that existed in the realms of his exuberant imagination. Here the evangelist, preaching of fire and brimstone, might stand silent and agast and cease his feeble, futile prophecies.

Tragedy and pathos become commonplace on a summer day in the East Side. Mothers fall to their knees on the blistering pavements and lift their hands to a sky of brass, praying for a cooling zephyr that does not come. Little, naked babes, too weak to cry out their misery, fitfully gasp their lives away. Scantly-clad children, from whom all the joy of youth has departed, wallow wearily on the stoops of tenements or wander listlessly through the walled lanes of this city of dreadful light. And the aged, the ill and the infirm, shut in by the four walls of a dungeon of New York's inquisition—surely no haunting thought of "something after death" can frighten such as these.

New York on a winter night with its homeless and friendless vainly seeking shelter from a blizzard's icy blast is a thing to wrench the heart strings; but the New York of a summer day is too frightful and fearsome to be encompassed by mere human pity.

Into this maelstrom of misery enters one salacious assurance. The society writers declare that "everybody is out of town" for the summer. Which means, of course, everybody but a few sweltering millions, who, in the language of the moralists, "suffer and grow strong."

Let us turn for relief to something cooling and refreshing. Nothing, I conceive, could better fill the bill than a description of the costume worn by Gertrude Hoffman in a performance of "A Vision of Salome" and other dances, introduced this week at a local roof garden. Miss Hoffman, we are assured by her enterprising press agent, wears no tights or similar incumbrances, and her entire costume is composed of two pieces. There is a corselet of near-jewels, built on the picket fence style of architecture, for the upper part of the body. The skirt—if it be legal to call it a skirt—is made of a material resembling window glass, so far as its transparency is concerned. As for the rest—may the good Saint Anthony Cornstalk help us—there is nothing. No slippers! No hosiery! Nothing! But do not blush. The performance, we are assured, is entirely respectable. It is an exact imitation for American delectation, of the dancing of Miss Maud Allan, an American girl, who has created a sensation in England and on the continent. Miss Allan has appeared before King Edward and most of England's nobility, and they have concurred in calling her "the goods." With this precedent, New York is trying not to be shocked at Miss Allan's imitator. Otherwise, we shall be called provincial and prudish and become the laughing stock of the wise and witty journalists of Europe.

RECEPTION FOR MRS. MOYER

It Was Tendered by Loyal Rebekah Lodge No. 260.

A reception in honor of Mrs. Jerome Moyer, recently-elected grand warden of the state assembly of Missouri, was given at the hall in the Cassidy building by Loyal Rebekah lodge No. 260, I. O. O. F., Friday night.

A business session opened the reception, during which two candidates were initiated, the lodge's new paraphernalia being used in conferring the degree work.

After the meeting the doors of the hall were thrown open and the lodge room was converted into a dining hall. Over one hundred and twenty-five guests were in attendance, and at the supper hour a well prepared repast was served.

Chicken, salads, pickles, coffee and other substantial, also ice cream and cake, constituted the menu, after which an impromptu program was rendered. Brief talks by nearly all in attendance were made, to which the guest of honor, Mrs. Moyer, responded very appropriately.

The guest list included many out-of-town people, among the number being the following delegation from Warrensburg: Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. H. B. Smith, Miss Mary Barnett, Mrs. R. H. Kenagy, Misses Alice and Laura Fairchild, Misses Pearl and Marie Ellis, G. Y. Eurus and Miss Martha Burrus, Miss Lora Pinder, J. M. McMeekin, Mrs. L. F. Hutchin, Mrs. Lena Sweet, Miss Louisa Priest, Mrs. Nannie Dawson, Miss Pearl Taggart, Miss Laura Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. William Gaubert, B. G. Brown, S. Y. Sanders, Mrs. Maud Rose, Miss Katie Koch, Mrs. James Kyle, Mrs. H. C. Townsend, Mrs. N. T. Winters.

13TH A BOY, MIKE A SUICIDE

Father, Learning of Arrival, Drowns Himself.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 18.—"It's a boy, Michael," said the doctor, smiling, as he came out of the house in Braddock to greet Michael Laumie, the father, who had been anxiously waiting. But there was no smile on Michael's face.

"Thirteen!" he mumbled. "Yes, that makes thirteen, Michael. I think I shall have to report this case to President Roosevelt," said the doctor.

Laumie ran to the bank of the Monongahela river, plunged in head first and was drowned.

BIG PAGEANT IN QUEBEC

THE PEOPLE OF SEVERAL COUNTRIES TO JOIN HANDS AS BROTHERS.

PANORAMA OF HISTORICAL EVENTS

Will Be Unrolled This Week on the Plains of Abraham—Prince of Wales and Other Royalty To Be There.

Quebec, July 18.—With a future monarch of the British people as a spectator of the mighty spectacle, a panorama of historical events made famous in poetry and literature will be unrolled next week on the Plains of Abraham. It will be a pageant without parallel in the new world, and one in which the peoples of Canada, England, France and the United States will join as friends and brethren. In addition to the Prince of Wales, there will be scores of nobles and high dignitaries of state from the mother country and many men of renown from the republic of France. Vice President Fairbanks will officially represent the United States.

The great festival will commemorate the 200th anniversary of the founding of Quebec, and will deal with phases of a history the most romantic in the early settlement of the North American continent. Already the ancient city is filling with visitors from all over Canada and the United States. The first event of the program will take place tomorrow, when L'Association Catholique de la Jeunesse Canadienne Française will do honor to the memory of Champlain at the foot of his statue.

On Monday the mounted heralds-at-arms and men of the watch will appear in the streets costumed as in the times of Champlain. The heralds will proceed through the length and breadth of the city, stopping at all important places and calling out official announcements as to the celebration. In the evening a congress of the French-speaking physicians of North America will be opened.

Tuesday's program includes the arrival and reception of official guests, and of the French and American fleets, a performance of the pageant on the Plains of Abraham, and a musical concert.

Wednesday will be the great day, when the Prince of Wales will arrive, escorted by a naval squadron, and will be given a glorious greeting by the assembled thousands. On Thursday will be shown the arrival of Champlain on his ship Don Dieu, a replica of the actual craft which conveyed the founder of Quebec. Throughout the balance of the week there will be other great pageants and celebrations, and the festivities will come to a close on July 29, when the Prince of Wales will leave on the return trip to England.

The pageant is planned to trace by procession and dramatic action all that has been notable in the quaint old city, which although loyal to the British crown, still remains strongly French in both its tongue and religion.

A mimic Jacques Cartier will plant his cross and read to the Indians the exact words that the real Jacques read to the Indians on the banks of the Lairet. Then down the river he will go, taking with him the Algonquin chief, and the Indians will paddle along in their canoes, acting as his escort while he starts the initial stage of his long journey back to France. The pantomime will take the observers back to that France of the long ago, where Cartier will be seen facing his royal master, King Francis First, to tell him of his discovery of the great western country.

Some years elapse before this heroic drama of history reproduces another scene. Once more it is a royal court. This time Henri IV is on the throne, and the spectators will see Champlain in the act of receiving his commission from the king to set out to the new world on a voyage of exploration. Shifting again the drama is laid in the new world. Champlain is in the new world. So are other characters made famous in the history of the Canadian city. The Jesuits arrive, so does Mother Marie, founder of the Ursulines. That battle is shown in which Dollard, the hero of Montreal, backed only by a band of sixteen heroes, made his stand against hordes of redskins and thus saved Canada.

Then comes still another change in the scene. The saintly Mgr. de Laval, surrounded by all the state and color of an ecclesiastical prince, is receiving the representatives of the king, who, led by the Marquis de Tracy, pay their homage to the church. Then Daumont de St. Luson takes possession, in the name of the king of France, of the new world of the west. Frontenac receives at the Chateau St. Louis the envoy of Sir William Phipps. Then will come the great final scene of this historical drama, the immortal battle on the plains of Abraham, that contest between French and British which changed the destiny of a whole continent, that clash in which the heroism was equally divided, where there was nothing to choose between the valor of Wolfe and that of Montcalm.

Once more the spectator will see the British troops, under the leadership of Wolfe, toll up a hill, which was from a military standpoint believed to be impregnable. Once more will sound the war cry of the Highlanders as they take the height, and chase the beaten French backward into the town, or helters-skelter to their camp in the valley of the St. Charles.

The grandeur of the natural scenery of Quebec furnishes the ideal settings for such a pretentious reproduction of a canvas famed in history. The city is built on a great bluff, overlooking the St. Lawrence, which at this point narrows down to a width no greater than a mile. To the north of the promontory, which Wolfe scaled, the land slopes down to the broad, sunlit valley of the St. Charles, where one wing of the army of Montcalm was stationed to defend the city. At the junction of the St. Charles and the Lairet is where Jacques Cartier spent the winter of 1535-1536, and where the first Jesuit mission was erected in 1635.

Almost every foot of this ground was the scene of some historic event. From the Duferin terrace the city looks across at the forts of St. Lewis, which in the possession of the British formed the point from which a terrible bombardment of the city by the British took place in 1759. Of especial interest to Americans is the narrow board walk around the cliff which connects with the terrace. Here it was that gallant American general, Montgomery, met his death in the Revolution while trying to make connection with Benedict Arnold at the foot of Mountain Hill for capture of Quebec, a victory that if won would have changed the whole map of the new world.

The city has been besieged no less than five times, and soldiers of a dozen nations have fought about it. Many monuments will attract the attention of those who visit the city for the anniversary celebration. Wolfe, Montcalm, Lewis, Murray, Montgomery, have all their tributes of honor. The present citadel was built on lines laid out by the Duke of Wellington, Napoleon's conqueror.

JUST SIXTY YEARS AGO

THE FIRST WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE MEETING IN THE WORLD WAS HELD.

SENECA FALLS, N. Y., THE PLACE

Tomorrow Will Be a Notable Anniversary for the Suffragists of the Country—The Program Interesting One.

Seneca Falls, N. Y., July 18.—Tomorrow will be a notable anniversary for the suffragists of the world since it was just sixty years ago, on July 19, 1848, that the first woman suffrage meeting in the world's history was commenced in this village. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Amelia Jenks Bloomer and other women who attained international fame were among those gathered in the Wesleyan church to voice the faintest cry of feminine rebellion, which has now swelled in volume until it is heard around the world.

Of the fifty women and nearly as many men who signed the declaration of rights, which was the result of the convention of 1848, only two are known to be living. Mrs. William Clark, who signed the declaration sixty years ago as Miss Susan Quinn, still lives at her home in Garden street. Mrs. Mary E. Hubbard, whose name appeared as Miss Mary E. Conklin on the declaration, is living at the Johnson home at the age of 79 years.

James Mott, husband of Lucretia Mott, was president of the convention and Henry P. Stanton, husband of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, was chairman of the committee which drew up the declaration of rights. Frederick Douglass, who was then tolling for the emancipation of the slaves, was present, as was Mrs. Amelia Jenks Bloomer, whose name has become attached to a style of woman's dress which she advocated as practical in 1851.

Ansel Bascom, the first village president of Seneca Falls and then one of the leading lawyers here, took a great interest in the convention. It was due largely to his efforts and those of David Dudley Field that women were given the right to earn money and be the guardians of their children.

Susan B. Anthony, who later took the leading part in the fight for woman's rights, came to Seneca Falls in the spring of 1850 to attend an anti-slavery convention which was being conducted by George Thompson and William Lloyd Garrison. While here she was the guest of Mrs. Amelia Jenks Bloomer.

It was while returning from one of the meetings that they stopped on a street corner and Mrs. Bloomer introduced Miss Anthony to Elizabeth Cady Stanton. After that Mrs. Stanton and Miss Anthony began their work for women with great vigor.

DEATH OF MRS. SANDERS

Funeral Services at Epworth Church This Afternoon.

Mrs. Charles N. Sanders, wife of a Missouri Pacific fireman, who had been afflicted with tuberculosis for a number of years, and for three years bedfast, died at her home, 1009 East Fifth street, at 9:30 o'clock Friday night.

Deceased was over 51 years of age, and besides her husband leaves two children, Mike Sanders, an M. K. & T. fireman, and Mrs. Fred Burke, wife of a machinist. Deceased is also survived by two sisters and two brothers, as follows: Mrs. Dell Baker, of North Dakota; Mrs. Amanda Gaddus, of Windsor, Ill.; Harvey Hyland, of North Dakota and Al Hyland, of Lexington, Mo.

Deceased was a member of the Epworth M. E. church. She also held membership in the ladies' society to the B. of L. F. and E. and carried $2,000 insurance in Fidelity council No. 53, K. and L. of S.

Rev. Perry E. Pierce will conduct funeral services at the Epworth M. E. church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and burial will be made in Crown Hill cemetery.

The following will serve as pallbearers: Fred Williams, J. E. Russell, C. W. Goodwin, F. M. Thompson, J. E. Kinzie and H. A. Daniels.

Sedalia's Leading Specialists

We, as specialists, recognize no superior in the treatment of chronic, nervous and special diseases of men and women. We have searched the world over in acquiring special knowledge for the cause and cure of deep-seated chronic and complicated conditions that affect the human system. Our new and perfected course of systematic medication, the modern Americanized European method of treatment is working wonders in a large number of cases heretofore classed as incurable.

By these wonderful methods the sick can now be given the benefit of a class of treatment and a quality of skill that they have never had before without going to Europe. We have brought to this city the Great Medical Discoveries and inventions of the old world, in addition to the very latest and best that modern American medical science has to offer for the cure of many chronic, deep-seated and special diseases that so baffle the skill of all those who employ the ordinary methods.

WEAK WOMEN--- WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT

We pride ourselves on our great achievements in restoring the gentler sex to health, strength and beauty; a clear, rosy complexion denotes perfect health. It is the health of the wife, the mother and daughter that mars or makes the happiness of home life. Many suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, well knowing they need medical attention.

THE CAUSE is readily traceable to some derangement of the female organs, chief of which are a depression of spirits, melancholy, a reluctance to perform cheerfully the daily duties, backache, dragging sensation, unnatural discharges, irregularities, pain in the back, sides, breast, neck or head, nervousness, bloating and sleepless nights, discoloration around the eyes, liver spots, blotches, muddy complexion. One or all of these symptoms are but timely warnings, and if unheeded, a life of suffering with serious complications is the inevitable result. To all such sufferers we extend a helping hand. Our modern method of examination and manner of procedure is without exposure; our consultation free; our special home treatment for ladies works the most happy results, put up in mailable form for those who can not call.

THE CRITICAL PERIOD OF A WOMAN'S LIFE.—The most dangerous and critical period of a woman's existence is during change of life, and if you have been a chronic sufferer beware, cancer of the breast or womb, ovarian tumors, polipi ulcerations, etc., all stand ready to wreck your hopes of a ripe old age, and to those of you who have already encountered these terrible wreckers of happy homes, we bid you hope, for it is on these malignant and deep-seated diseases that we have concentrated all our energies for years and have so perfected our methods that we cure absolutely and permanently without operations or the use of the knife, advanced cases of cancer, ovarian fibroid and uterine tumors, together with all other complications arising therefrom by our modern Americanized European method of Painless, Bloodless Surgery Treatment for Female Disease. Our sanitarium connection enables us to accept cases that need constant attention and those who are unable to come to our offices regularly. If you can not call, write for further information.

TO ALL WHO SUFFER

Come to our offices and we will make a thorough, searching and scientific examination of your case Free of Charge, and if we find that your condition will yield to the influence of our advanced methods then we will take your case.

SWEET SPRINGS NEWS

HAPPENINGS IN THE CITY OF HEALTH DURING WEEK JUST PASSED.

THE VISITING LIST IS QUITE LARGE

Planning for a Harvest Picnic at Sulphur Springs—The Local Ball Club Beat Concordia After a Wrangle.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Sweet Springs, Mo., July 18.—Sam Kerr, of El Dorado Springs, is the guest of friends here.

Mrs. Joe Francisco and daughter, Mary Olive, of Snyder, Okla., came in Wednesday night to visit Mrs. J. D. Smith.

Miss Maud Cayton is at home, after a week's visit with relatives in Dunksburg.

George Weber and wife have returned from a four weeks' trip through Colorado.

Mrs. John Goggin and guest, Mrs. Gaines, of Pueblo, Col., are spending the week with Marshall friends.

Miss Dove Ray is expected home soon from California, where she has spent the past year.

Mrs. J. F. Jarvis and son, James, left Tuesday morning for Valley Mills, Kan., Mrs. Jarvis' former home, to visit relatives. Dr. Jarvis accompanied them to Kansas City, returning Tuesday night.

T. J. Page and family, of Perry, Okla., are guests of Mrs. Page's father, D. W. Parsons.

Misses Angie, Odie and Mary T. Berry spent Tuesday in Houstonia, where they attended the birthday celebration of their little niece, Henrietta Smith.

Waldo Andrew left Tuesday morning for Carmen, Okla., to take a position in the general store of his brother, T. H. Andrew.

Mrs. E. C. Blank and son, of Kansas City, and Miss Ruth Willis, of Higginsville, are guests of Mrs. S. C. Neale.

Miss Kate Drysdale, of Lexington, will arrive next week for an extended visit with Mrs. E. L. Spurgeon.

Marvin Davis spent a part of the week in Kansas City, where he had two large shipments of stock on the market from his stock farm near Blackburn.

Mrs. R. Sam Hays, Miss Fannie May Bellamy and Sam Kerr, of El Dorado Springs, drove to Sedalia Thursday, returning Thursday night.

F. H. Tisdale, Ed Reavis and S. C. Neale went to Marshall Thursday morning to participate in the democratic rally.

Rev. S. F. Shiffler and family have arrived from Dallas, Texas, and are occupying the manse in this city. Rev. Shiffler will conduct his first service in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

Mrs. George Shanklin returned Saturday from a week's visit with Marshall friends.

Miss Ethel D. Pickett, of Kansas City, was the guest of Miss Ida Smith Wednesday, and delivered an address to the young people's societies of the city Wednesday evening.

Mrs. W. C. Hall and guest, Mrs. N. M. Yantis, of Marshall, and Rev. George Shanklin were entertained at dinner Friday by T. C. Berry and daughters.

Rev. J. C. Shackelford will lecture in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, July 19, his subject being, "The Person of Christ." This is to be a union service, a tribute to Rev. Shackelford's popularity. Sunday, July 26, this eminent divine will preach in the Methodist church in Marshall by invitation of the official board of stewards.

Tuesday afternoon the Junior Missionary society of the Presbyterian church enjoyed an outing at McAllister Springs. The young people drove out to this popular resort early in the afternoon and remained for supper, all enjoying themselves immensely.

Plans are under way for a harvest picnic to be held at Sulphur Springs, north of this city, Thursday, Aug. 6. A large crowd is always in evidence at a picnic on these grounds, and efforts are being made to make this a record breaker.

A game of baseball was played on the diamond in Bruns' park Sunday, July 12 between the Concordia and Sweet Springs teams. A misunderstanding arose in the fourth inning, which resulted in some of the visiting team withdrawing from the game. Substitutes were pressed into service, and the game continued, after more than an hour's delay. Twelve innings were played, the score then standing 7 to 8 in favor of Sweet Springs. The Sweet Springs nine will play the Bentons, of Kansas City, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

J. C. Longan and wife, of Houstonia, and Charles Hanley and wife, of Sedalia, were guests of B. F. Prigmore and wife Friday and Saturday at their beautiful country home, south of this city.

A number of Houstonia's prominent young people enjoyed a camping expedition the past week on South Fork, near this city. The fishing party was planned in compliment to a popular Sedalia couple, C. L. Hanley and wife, who are guests of Houstonia friends. Others in the party were J. C. Longan and wife, J. C. Williams and wife, Dr. McConnell and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Gibson, of Sedalia.

Mr. Harum, one of Sweet Springs' most highly respected German citizens, died at his home here Thursday, July 16, of senile debility. Mr. Harum had been in failing health ever since coming here several years ago. He is survived by a wife and daughter and three sons.

J. W. Grayson died unexpectedly at his home in this city Tuesday, July 14, at the age of 81 years. Notwithstanding his extreme age, Mr. Grayson had enjoyed good health until a short time ago, when some organic heart trouble developed. He had resided in this community about twenty years, coming here from Miami, and during that time had enjoyed the friendship of all with whom he was associated. A wife, four daughters and four sons survive him, another daughter, Mrs. Marmaduke, having died shortly after her marriage, a few years ago. Funeral services were held at the family residence Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Shanklin, of the Christian church, after which the body was laid to rest in Fairview cemetery. Those in attendance at the funeral services from a distance were John E. Grayson and wife and James Grayson, of El Paso, Texas; Mrs. J. M. Thornton, of Milwaukee; Mr. Cruzen and wife, of Warrensburg; Mr. Steele and wife and Mr. Haynie, of Marshall.

About Our "J. West."

Charles J. Walden writes thus in the Boonville Advertiser: "J. West Goodwin, of Sedalia, on his return from the democratic national convention, managed to get an audience with a Kansas City reporter in which he declared himself for Taft and against Bryan. It makes but little difference who J. West is for or against. Like White Horse, Sitting Bull and other once great chiefs, his greatness has long ago faded into insignificance, and he is now kept busy trying to find out who he is and what are his politics."

Burglars at Otterville.

Last night some person or persons broke into the kitchen at Mrs. Cora Brewster's residence and took everything in the way of eatables, says the Otterville Mail of Friday. The kitchen of C. R. Love, who lives in part of Mrs. Brewster's house, was also looted. Neither family could get breakfast this morning until they had gotten a fresh supply of groceries. It is pretty well known who did the stealing, and arrests will likely be made.

EPWORTH LEAGUE THROUGH

Conference Closes With Address by St. Louis Pastor.

Warrensburg, Mo., July 18.—The annual conference of the Missouri Epworth League, of the M. E. church, South, closed a four days' meeting at Pettie Springs Friday night, with an address on "Missions" by the Rev. S. H. Wainwright, of St. Louis.

The meeting this year has surpassed all past meetings in point of members, quality of work done and in interest and enthusiasm. The conference is rapidly growing into a meeting of state wide interest and the attendance is going to increase rapidly with each succeeding year.

Officers elected for the year 1898-9: President, Sim Beam, Springfield; first vice president, the Rev. E. R. Dickinson, Liberty; second vice president, Miss Edlyn Knott, St. Joseph; third vice president, Miss Sallie Seawall, Kansas City; fourth vice president, the Rev. W. W. Alexander, Chilhowee; secretary, C. R. Comfort, St. Louis; treasurer, Miss Frankie Hooper, St. Joseph; junior superintendent, Miss L. Fayeked, Independence; league editor, Miss Fannie McLean, St. Louis.

"SOUP KITCHENS" PUT IN

HOW THE RECENT PANIC HAS AFFECTED THE EAST SIDE IN NEW YORK.

WHAT THEY DID WHEN CRASH CAME

One Who Knows That $25,000,000 a Year is the Annual Income from the Needle Trades in a Normal Year.

By Mayer Schoenfeld.
(The country has been pretty well stirred up over the repeated newspaper announcements that there is wholesale suffering from hunger among the children of New York's east side. Charity experts, settlement workers, reporters and editors have all expressed opinions (mostly conflicting) about the recently organized Children's Relief society. The author of the following article has lived for twenty-seven years on the east side, and he has some first hand opinions on the late panic and the resulting destitution that are unique.)

(Exclusive Service Charities and the Commons Press Bureau.)

New York, July 18.—There is a saying in Yiddish, "Ask the patient, not the doctor, as to the symptoms of the disease." We down here on the east side are continually being investigated, and even that would harm little were it really a proper, accurate and thorough investigation, with the result of solving this or that problem.

These investigations are external of the body east side. The real sickness is internal, and so deep into the blood vessels that the wisecracks, even the graduates of the settlements, have not got within reach.

As a life-long resident of the good old east side, I maintain that the kitchens for the school of children are doing much more harm than good. First, it makes of the child a beggar. Second, it impresses into the mind of the boy and girl a sort of discontent against the whole system of society, and when we are told that this thing works fine in Germany and France, I claim that there is the foundation of discontent and one of the causes of ingrained socialism from childhood on.

Whatever help there is for the poor child let that go to its parents. It is enough that the father and mother should feel that they are compelled to take charity.

One more objection against this novel charity and that is that it causes a gradual lukewarmness and indifference on the part of these youngsters toward their parents. So much for that.

As to the questions, why should there be, or is there any particular reason for suffering on the east side more than anywhere else? I most emphatically claim that there is, and further claim that the people of the east side are the very first ones to suffer in the event of any industrial or financial panic, and that they are the very last ones to get the benefit or prosperity.

Strange as this may be, it is a fact just the same, and I am in a position to prove it with undisputed facts. The bulk of residents on the east side, or better say not less than 60 per cent of the people living on the east side, derive their source of income directly or indirectly from the needle industry, such as clothing, cloaks, shirts, wrappers, underwear, trades, etc. It is further demonstrated that at least two-thirds of these products are sold outside of New York City. It is sold by the whole sale manufacturer throughout the country, principally in the manufacturing towns.

It must be remembered that the wage earner, even the farmer, buys clothing with the surplus of his earnings. However, I mean to say that the wage earner or farmer, when he receives his pay and starts to divide his earnings for the necessities of life, the wearing apparel is the last on the bill of fare.

First comes rent; second, eatables, and the very last clothing. Therefore, we will readily see how the whole of the needle industries are dependent on the general condition of the country.

No matter how much I would like to avoid to fall back on statistics to cover my point of view, I am, nevertheless, in possession of some facts, call them statistics if you please.

The amount of the annual income to the homes of the east side in normal times is about thirty-five million dollars, of which about twenty-five millions come from the needle trades, about six millions from the local trades and the rest from miscellaneous, such as city, state, government salaries, etc.

Nearly the total amount of these thirty-five million dollars remain on the east side. It comes at first in the

The credit of the east side business man and landlord is naturally cut down in the bank because he is unable to keep up his bank balance, and the whole east side is in a sort of pessimistic mood. When on top of all that, some ladies and gentlemen, no doubt well meaning and charitable inclined, are opening soup houses for the children, they are adding more scare into the neighborhood, making things worse instead of better, and it looks as if the whole east side is bankrupt.
